WELCOME TO
DOW AIR FORCE BASE
BANGOR MAINE

WILLIAM B. DAVID
COL. USAF
COMMANDING OFFICER

A MESSAGE FROM YOUR COMMANDING OFFICER

I welcome you to Dow Air Force Base and sincerely hope that your tour with us will be a pleasant one.

My desire is to make your duty and off duty time as pleasant as possible. I urge each member of the military service regardless of rank to take advantage of the opportunities described in this booklet.

The airman who takes advantage of the environmental surroundings of Maine will find himself well rewarded.

As your commander I urge you to participate wholeheartedly in the base activities as it is a direct means for raising your efficiency, morale, and the development of better airmen and future citizens.

WILLIAM B DAVID
Colonel, USAF
Commanding

STRATEGIC AIR COMMAND

The Strategic Air Command, commanded by General Curtis E. LeMay, was originally activated on 21 March 1946 to play the role of the long-range striking arm of the United States Air Force.

At the time of its inception it was commanded by General George C. Kinney.

Strategic Air Command (SAC) Headquarters are located at Offutt Air Force Base, Omaha, Nebraska, where the job of regulating policy for its three major subdivisions is accomplished. The three subdivisions are the Second Air Force, the Eighth Air Force, and the Fifteenth Air Force.

The mission of the Strategic Air Command is to conduct long-range operations in any part of the world, at any time, either independently or in cooperation with land and sea forces.

WILLIAM B. DAVIS

Colonel, USAF

Commanding

THE EIGHTH AIR FORCE

The Eighth Air Force, one of the major subdivisions of the Strategic Air Command, is commanded by Major General Samuel Anderson, with its Headquarters at Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth, Texas.

During World War II, the Eighth Air Force was one of the decisive factors for our victory in Europe. Leveling most of Germany's major industrial sectors, it was outstanding for the destructive results it attained. It was also instrumental in clearing the Luftwaffe from the European skies.

The mission of the Eighth Air Force is that of the Strategic Air Command, to be able to carry war to the enemy by means of long-range bombers, capable of striking anywhere in the world, within a matter of hours. With this thought in the foreground, it trains for any eventuality.

DOW AIR FORCE BASE

Dow Air Force Base is located approximately two miles from the heart of the City of Bangor, Maine. It was activated in May 1941 as Bangor Air Base. In January 1942, it was re-named Dow Field in honor of 2d Lt James F Dow of Oakfield, Maine, who was killed in an aircraft collision accident on 17 June 1940 while enroute from Mitchel Field, New York.

The Base was originally intended to serve as a forward Airdrome for active defense against enemy forces attacking the United States from Europe, either by sea or by air. It was built to house a heavy Bombardment Group or a Pursuit Group, together with a Supply, Ordnance and Air Base Units to support these tactical units. The second function, not originally contemplated, proved to be of vital importance in the conduct of the war. The Air Transport Command used this base for the ferrying of tactical bombers, fighters and transport aircraft across the North Atlantic direct to the combat zones in Europe, Africa and Asia. The base served as a large Staging Area for overseas shipments. From 1944 to 1946 Dow was one of the POW sites.

This base was deactivated November 1949. It was reactivated on 1 February 1951, under the command of Colonel Philip E Tukey, Commanding Officer of the 101st Fighter Wing, EADP, Air Defense Command. On 1 April 1951, Dow Air Force Base was transferred to the jurisdiction of Strategic Air Command, with the 101st Fighter Wing being replaced by the 132d Fighter-Bomber Wing, Eighth Air Force, commanded by Colonel John H. Holmes.

On 15 November 1951, Dow Air Force Base and personnel assigned were transferred to the Tactical Air Command, Langley Air Force Base, Virginia, with the Ninth Air Force as its next higher headquarters. Dow Air Force Base remained under Tactical Air Command until 30 June 1952, at which time the 132d Fighter-Bomber Wing was reassigned to Alexandria Air Force Base, Louisiana.

On 1 July 1952, the 4009th Air Base Squadron was activated at Dow Air Force Base, and again transferred to Strategic Air Command under Headquarters Eighth Air Force. Colonel William B. David assumed command of Dow Air Force Base on 1 July 1952.

The mission of Dow Air Force Base is the same as that of its higher headquarters.

THE CITY OF BANGOR

Bangor, with a population of 31,437, is situated at the head of the tidewater on the Penobscot River. It was incorporated as a Township, under the laws of Massachusetts, in 1834, and is now the third largest city in the State of Maine. Its main industries are pulp wood, paper mills, shoe and moccasin manufacturing. It is the wholesale distributing center for Northern and Eastern Maine, and is considered the recreation center of the State. Directly across the river is the City of Brewer, with a population of 6,510 and is the site of the Eastern Corporation, a paper manufacturing plant.

The altitude of Bangor is 192 feet above sea level. The average day temperature in summer is 75.5 degrees, while the nights are cool with an average temperature of 53.7 degrees. During the winter months, December to March, night temperatures are below freezing with an average of 13.2, while the average maximum day temperature for this period is 31.5. Winters are normally clear and frosty, with an average total snowfall of 49 inches from December through April. Normal annual rainfall is 37.4 inches.

The Bangor Chamber of Commerce, 23 Franklin Street, is glad to be of service to both military personnel and civilians in every way possible, including housing information. Printed matter regarding Bangor and Maine is available for all interested personnel.

Bangor and vicinity have excellent modern schools, ranging from Kindergarten through Junior and Senior High Schools, including both public and parochial. The Parent-Teachers Association is very active in all the Bangor schools and encourages membership by all parents, military and civilian. The Northern Conservatory of Music, 166 Union Street, offers advanced instructions in music of all types and grants the Bachelor of Music Degree. The Bangor Theological Seminary provides training for the rural ministry, and grants the Bachelor of Divinity Degree. The Bangor Public Library, one of the most outstanding libraries in the country, with over 270,000 volumes, is open 72 hours a week for your use. Its personnel welcomes all newly assigned personnel and extends the privilege of home borrowing of books to all.

The University of Maine at Orono, with its beautiful rolling campus on the banks of the Penobscot River, offers complete college curriculum and a variety of short courses. This land-grant institution of more than 4,000 students has a high scholastic ranking, both with academic authorities and military men who know the school.

The Penobscot Valley Country Club, approximately six miles from Dow, on U.S. Highway #2, Orono Road, solicits membership to Dow personnel and offers an excellent 18-hole golf course. Lucerne-in-Maine, on the Bar Harbor road, U.S. Highway #1, approximately ten miles from Bangor, offers a Country Club, swimming facilities and a 9-hole golf course. Tennis courts, bowling alleys and ball clubs are available in various sections of the City of Bangor. Horseback riding on alluring trails, varied types of fishing, hunting and winter sports in season are available. Bangor has four theaters open daily at 1300 hours. There are two drive-in theaters, one located on outer Hammond Street, U.S. Highway #2, and one on the Bar Harbor road, U.S. Highway #1.

Northeast Airlines provide regular schedule air service, both north and south, and is situated on the Hammond Street side of Dow Air Force Base. The Bangor & Aroostook, Boston & Maine, and Maine Central are the chief railroads serving Bangor, with the station located on Washington Street.

All Bangor churches particularly welcome servicemen and women, and are eager to do their part in making service people feel at home in Bangor.

The Y.M.C.A. is located at 127 Hammond Street; the Y.W.C.A. is located at 174 Union Street; Bangor Hobby Center at 22 Franklin Street. The Bangor House, 174 Main Street, and the Penobscot Hotel, 129 Exchange Street, offer good hotel accommodations.

THE STATE OF MAINE

Maine is known as the Pine Tree State, having an area of 33,215 sq miles, and a population of 913,774. Its capital is Augusta. Maine is the largest in area of the six New England states and is the farthest Northeast, touching only one of the other states. Its boundaries are: North - Quebec; East - New Brunswick, Canada and the Bay of Fundy; South - the Atlantic Ocean; and West - New Hampshire. The coastline of 250 miles is so irregular that bays and inlets extend it to 2,379 miles. Eastport is the most eastern city in the United States. Cadillac Mountain, 1,532 feet, is the highest seacoast point north of Brazil. There are also ten mountains over 4,000 feet high, being led by Katahdin which is 5,273 feet. There are 2,465 lakes, 1,300 wooded islands, five large rivers and 5,147 streams and small rivers. Moosehead Lake is 40 miles long and two to ten miles wide. The Penobscot River, one of Maine's largest, is 350 miles in length, starting at the East Branch, north of Baxter State Park, and emptying into the Penobscot Bay. Deer, partridge, black bear, raccoon and muskrat abound. Game fish include Atlantic salmon, brook trout, small mouth bass, blue fish and tuna.

Maine is ideal for winter sports, having 100 clubs, 40 ski tows, including a 1900 foot slope at Deer Hill, Harrison, Maine, which is served by a 1200 foot tow. Some ski slopes are floodlighted for night skiing.

Arcadia National Park, located on Mount Desert Island and on the mainland bordering Winter Harbor, offers much in scenic beauty and picnic facilities. This site was so named by Samuel de Champlain while exploring this country in the early 17th Century. Baxter State Park, having 141,712 acres, contains Mount Katahdin which is thoroughly enjoyed by all mountain climbers, offering many rugged mountain trails.

WITHHOLDING TAX

1. Taxable Income. Most items of "pay" are taxable while most "allowances" are exempt from withholding tax. Base pay, flying pay, medical or dental pay, and foreign duty pay are all taxable income upon which withholding tax is deducted. Subsistence, quarters, and clothing allowances are exempt from taxation. Korean servicemen have certain exemption privileges.

2. Exemptions are obtained from the Form W-4 on file for you in the Finance Office. See your pay clerk to change your Form W-4.

3. First Day. Withholding tax is computed upon the rate of pay which applies to you on the first day of the month.

4. Form W-2, Statement of Income Tax Withheld, will be issued by the Finance Officer who has your pay record at the close of the calendar year, or when you are released from active duty.
