Dedication

*The ORACLE is dedicating the 1949
June yearbook to the faculty of Bangor
High School whose untiring patience, neverfailing interest, and understanding friendship have influenced and guided us

Foreword

This, the fifty-seventh year of publication of the "Oracle" has been a profitable and progressive one.

Once again the magazine has contributed immensely to the enjoyment and morale of the students and faculty. The Oracle assembly which launched the subscription drive last fall was credited as being one of the best entertainments of the school year. The fine articles, stories, poems, and pictures included in the Christmas issue were very favorably received. The Oracle staff has made some changes in both the Christmas issue and in the yearbook while many of the traditional patterns of previous publications have been retained.

The staff members have devoted many hours to the publication of each issue—long hours, spent in finding appropriate manners of expression, typing, proofreading and re-proofreading. The Oracle board, however, has enjoyed these tasks and has derived many benefits from its labor.

The Oracle extends sincere thanks to Furbush-Roberts Printing Company for their helpful cooperation, and to our many advertisers whose generous support made possible this year of publication.

From the Class of '49

We seek the truest gold
As our time to leave has come
And we look back on years gone past
We laugh a bit—we cry a bit—
We wonder why they've gone so fast.

And, as yet, we forward look
To our part in a world of strife,
As forty-niners sought before
We seek the gold of life.

We Seek the Purest Gold

An Ounce of Prevention

ROBERT HAMILTON

Would you throw your money away? Would you spend it on a project obviously worthless, useless, or futile? Your money, nevertheless, in the form of taxes, is being thrown away on such a project. The project being referred to is the care of the mentally ill.

During the colonial days, smallpox was a common disease and a dreaded one. Then, during the latter part of the eighteenth century, Edward Jenner discovered the principle of vaccination, for which we are all grateful. Now smallpox is a rare disease in the United States, although smallpox outbreaks occur in those parts of the world wherever vaccination is not required by law. Similar methods have achieved similar results in the case of diphtheria. The spread of certain other diseases, both plant and animal, has been prevented by quarantine. Proper sanitation and pasteurization of milk, part of preventive medicine, have served to wipe out other dreaded diseases, such as typhoid fever, typhus, and undulant fever. It is evident, therefore, that certain diseases have been controlled not just by curing the cases of the disease when they occur, but by preventing the disease from occurring again.

The question then naturally arises that if such good results can be achieved by preventive medicine, why shouldn't the methods of preventive medicine be extended to combat other diseases? Little is known, unfortunately, about the cause, cure, or method of prevention, if any, of many diseases. Because so little is known about those certain diseases, campaigns are annually undertaken to finance research to supply the necessary data about such diseases as infantile paralysis, cancer, heart diseases, and tuberculosis; yet, in spite of the fact that mental diseases have been a major cause for discharge during the war and, as William C. Menninger affirms in Recreation and Mental Health, are now the cause of suffering for more than half the patients in hospitals, little is being done about mental diseases.

Realizing the need for something to be done to improve present conditions, Congress passed the National Mental Health Act in 1947, which, according to Robert Felix, "The National Mental Health Act," Mental Hygiene is aimed at bringing about direct action in three interrelated fields: increased research in the fields of nervous and mental diseases; the training of urgently needed personnel; and the improvement and expansion of community mental-health services. Under that legislation, the Public Health Service is authorized to supply aid to the expansion and development of research into the causes, diagnosis, methods of treatment, and prevention of nervous and mental disorders and to supply aid to qualified persons for graduate training. The act also authorizes the establishment of a research and training center in the Washington area, to be known as the National Institute of Mental Health, in which much-needed research will be carried on by a full-time staff and advanced students; the hospital will be fully equipped and serve as a model training unit.

In spite of that piece of legislation, William C. Menninger in "Recreation and Mental Health," says "the federal government is spending nearly ten times as much money to handle our social failures . . . as the federal budget allows for the improvement of mental health." The fact that the problem of mental health is not being attacked with the right approach is indicated by the fact that, as Ray Lyman Wilbur says in The March of Medicine, "the present cost for the segregated care of the insane is enormous and it is evidently growing." The present system for the care of the mentally ill has been well summed up in the same book in the following manner:

At the present time much of our care of those who deviate off too far to the abnormal is that of simple

The Children of War-torn Countries

LOIS PLUMMER

Before telling you about the plight of the Youth in War-Torn Countries of Europe, let me set a scene of destruction and waste before your eyes. Imagine a large city, about the size of New York, with tall buildings, chimneys issuing columns of smoke, and people bustling about their tasks, enjoying all that Life can give them; their homes, churches, businesses, and children.

Now, imagine this same city, a mass of rubble where planes have bombed, straffed, and burned every thing in sight. A city where houses were once solid but are now masses of debris, broken-brick, and twisted steel. Here and there, can be seen emerging from the rubble a stairway or chimney reminding one of former days. The people are not gay in spirit now, but are old and bent-over with deep lines of sorrow on their faces, showing what the years of war have done to their spirit. But where are the children who used to laugh and play in the streets of this city? Where are they?

The children are still existing in these cities of ruins, but what a change there is! Now, no laughter is heard. They play out-of-doors in the cold streets amid the destruction—bare-footed, hungry, and with barely enough clothes to cover their emaciated bodies. The younger children, whose parents work and can not care for them, wander aimlessly about the streets, endeavoring to find something interesting to do. What they will find depends on what street they turn into, which sound or smell they follow to its course. Hospitals, jails, and reformatories are already crowded with these children who play in the streets. However, conditions among the children have improved since formation of the U. N.; and other organizations are helping, according to David Seymour's article, "Children of Europe," which appeared in Life, December 27, 1948.

Another grave problem of Europe is the children of Displaced Persons. In 1947 the Allies began deportation of persons thought to have been guilty of crimes in Central Europe. Twenty-million persons, men, women, and children were removed from their familiar surroundings and dumped into bombed-out cities with no food for schools for the children. The older persons may have been guilty, but small babies and children certainly were not. Now, these children live in a twilight zone on territory owned by their former enemies. They live in converted concentration camps, and badly equipped barracks, some without running water, very little heat, and only a minimum of privacy. Many people wonder why the Displaced Persons do not go back to their former homes and help build up the cities. According to William Bernard's article "Homeless, Tempest-Tossed," which appeared in the April, 1948 issue of Survey Graphic, for some of these persons to return home would mean immediate imprisonment and death in countries that are now Soviet dominated; others do not wish to return and be reminded of the tortures they received there, while still more fear religious persecution.

The children of the Displaced Persons and those that are living with their families are considered the most fortunate children in Europe. The really unfortunate children are the "lost-children" whose parents have been killed, or those children who were kidnapped by the Germans during the war. Joseph Wechsberg states in his article, "Hell's Orphans", "It is not known how many of Europe's thirty-million children are wandering aimlessly around, not knowing where they came from or where they belong; kids who never have tasted a glass of fresh milk, never have slept in a bed with white sheets, and never bathed in a bathtub. Kids who lost their eyesight, their limbs, and worst of all their faith in humanity". Poland, itself, has, at least, two million children orphans and Yugoslavia has eighty-eight thousand orphan children. Most of these are suffering from many

Statehood for Alaska

WALDO GAGNON

"The Alaskan Coast is to become the showplace of the earth, and pilgrims not only from the United States, but from far beyond will flock to see it." —Ernest Gruening.

Will statehood solve the urgent problems of our last fabulously wealthy frontier? This is my objective and I intend to prove that statehood will not only solve the problems of Alaska but also will aid the United States in getting more minerals and more natural resources from Alaska. The territory may also prove to be a strategic base for the United States in case of war with Russia.

Alaska was first discovered by Russian traders in 1741 and was later bought by President Johnson's Secretary of State, William Seward in 1867. The price paid was $7,200,000 and Americans soon nicknamed Alaska, "Seward's Folly." Even then, to people who knew little about Alaska it seemed sheer waste to pay so much for "miles of icebergs and polar bears". This same saying holds true for a lot of people to this day.

Now let us think of Alaska as a strategic point. It lies in the northwestern part of North America and is bounded on the north by the Arctic Ocean, on the east by Canada, on the south by the Pacific Ocean and on the west by the Bering Sea and the Bering Strait. The most westerly of the Aleutian Islands lies near the same meridian as New Zealand, while Cape Prince of Wales, on the west coast of the mainland, lies in line with the Samoan Islands.

Russia is less than one hundred miles across the Bering Strait from Alaska. The Army Corps of Engineers recently disclosed that nearly $41,000,000 would be spent in Alaska, mostly for housing in the 1948-49 fiscal year. The Territory, which may some day be a state of the Union, already can claim to be the offshore territory with the most ambitious military future.

Many of the problems that face Alaska can only be solved by statehood. The Territory has progressed little in the eighty years it has been under the proud sovereignty of the American flag. It lacks sorely needed highways, railroads, tuberculosis clinics, and community centers, as well as an effective police force. The excessive transportation rates stifle development. Tiny appropriations by Congress prevent adequate protection of fish and wild life, Alaska's greatest natural assets. Red tape ensnarls the getting of land for homesteading. The law enforcement is very weak. An example of this is: one day an Indian confessed to the murder of six men; authorities did not even know the men were missing. Lack of land transportation has held back the development of the Territory. Many natives leave Alaska. Some said they could only be minor clerks in the Territory. Some said there were not enough girls. As Ernest Gruening says, absentee domination of the fisheries is so complete that resident Alaskans miss even the full benefit of employment in their major industry.

In a very real sense, Alaska has been looted by outsiders with the approval and collaboration of Congress. The truth is the Alaskan treasure has rarely helped the Alaskans. Of the 434 fish traps licensed by the Department of the Interior, 245 are owned by eight absentee canning companies. The salmon packers admitted recently to a Congressional Committee in Alaska that the value of the canneries in Alaska exceeded $75,000,000 and that not a penny in property tax had ever been paid on this enormous investment. "We need better shipping, better air service, and more accommodations. Give it five to ten years . . ." is the plea of Governor Gruening.

President Truman and Mr. Gruening, Governor of Alaska, both agree that statehood for Alaska would solve many of the problems that face the Territory. Before the war the Territory had only 1,970 miles of road and 540 miles of railroad, re-

Intolerance

PATRICIA LARGAY

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Thus wrote Thomas Jefferson in the Declaration of Independence. This is undoubtedly the best known and most frequently quoted statement in that famous document, but do all men have equality in their pursuit of happiness?

We have not long ago finished a Second World War that is also known as the War Against Prejudice. It was prejudice and intolerance of a certain minority group that finally drew most of the world into that great conflict.

Today, following the close of that war we hold forth Democracy to the peoples of the world as the only form of government that offers hope and salvation for the masses. As we hold forth Democracy to the peoples of the world, we might look within our own borders to see if we are offering to all men equality in their pursuit of happiness.

According to Winfred E. Garrison in his book, entitled Intolerance, "In our own times, the Jew has been the victim of violent intolerance over a wider area, under a greater variety of conditions, at the hands of more kinds of people, and more often—or one might better say more continuously—than any other class." Today in the United States it is difficult for Jews to enter institutions of higher learning especially medical schools; many brilliant students are turned down every year because the "Jewish quota" has been filled. Many citizens have been refused by apartment-house owners because they too belong to this class. Often Jews are persona non grata to the whole community, even though there are no open acts of hostility or no legal restrictions upon their freedom of action. They are simply ignored. "All of this is perfectly lawful in any free society, because the legal liberty of the Jew to live where he pleases is balanced by the legal liberty of everybody to choose his own friends." On the other hand, the Jew does not always succeed in his attempt to reside in a particular neighborhood. Many landowners form an agreement whereby they will not sell their property to a member of this group. The Jew is frequently excluded from golf courses, beaches, restaurants, and hotels. It is hard to believe that American Jews are barred from these places because they are not Christians when half the Gentiles in the country are not Christians. Mr. Garrison also states that many hotels openly advertise "restricted clientele." We have here not only religious prejudice but also race intolerance.

The present race situation in the United States is a tragedy. The Negro is handicapped by his educational opportunities, which though greatly improved in recent years, are still inferior to those provided for the whites in areas where there is segregation of the two races. The accommodations of the segregated schools are insufficient. The schools are unpainted barns; for desks they have benches without backs and are obliged to write on their knees. A Negro is admitted to only those institutions of higher learning that are designated for that race. He is discriminated against in all the professions and most of the occupations. In many of our cities we find Negroes who hold the degree of Doctor of Philosophy running elevators or working in kitchens simply because they are colored. In many cities of both the North and South, his residence is restricted to an undesirable area which becomes a kind of Negro ghetto." Residential segregation has been brought about by the action of landowners and real estate agents who fear a depreciation of property owned or occupied by Negroes. The Negro is excluded from hotels and restaurants or admitted and so insulted or neglected that he chooses not to return. In the South, when travel-

Universal Military Training

ROBERT DAVIS

The proposal of compulsory military training is not an entirely new idea to the American people. On three occasions we have passed legislation requiring able bodied citizens to serve their country in time of war. After World War I we debated the possibility of compulsory peacetime training and now again we are considering the same problem in a new perspective.

The issue has already received wide discussion in the press and over the discussion table. Bills are before the houses of Congress. The Select Committee on Postwar Military Policies has held hearings and made further recommendations and regular legislative committees will thoroughly investigate the subject from all angles.

The proposed American system of universal military training is in fact, a modern adaption of the democratic military system which President George Washington proposed to the first congress before any of the European conscript systems were established or even thought of.

Many people and groups of people don't want military training for the young boys. They say it only will make war, instead of stopping it. Many students in high school have expressed their opinions on the subject. Joe Lilly of Sevely, Arkansas, says (quote) "I think that the Universal Military Training would be bad for the person who was going to college. I feel that the army will place me where they want me and not where I want to go. A volunteer army won the last war and could do it again. On the other hand, there are students who think that a year or more of military training would teach the young men better discipline and manners. Many military men believe that the boy of today is better raw material for a soldier than his father or grandfather; but this raw material requires more extensive processing to meet the peculiar requirements of the energetic outdoor life of the fighting man.

The military leaders of our country feel that we need a strong force of trained men on hand in case of another war. Military leaders say if we have another war we wouldn't have time to train men. This war taught us a vivid lesson,—that it is extremely risky to leave to those who live in it the security of a modern nation at peace. We do know the price we have paid since Pearl Harbor for our willingness to postpone the decision of 1920 (the 1920 decision was to have a compulsory training program). A nation must inherit its security from the generation that has seen that security jeopardized. The President's outline is that the program would be under a three man commission appointed by the President, one member from each of the services.

In many foreign countries where our troops are now, they do not want us to leave because they fear communism. As in Korea, the northern part is held by the communists; when and if we move out, they will take the southern part of the country. The people of Southern Korea don't want communism. As General George Marshall has said "In many conversations I have had with leading officials of other countries I find always the fear that we will withdraw into our shell and at the same time endeavor, as they put it, to inflict on the world an idealistic policy without on our own part having any bases for maintaining or backing up a policy of idealism." This proves that we must have a large standing army and navy in order to build a better world to live in.

The training will be one year; it will be divided up into two main groups, basic and specialized training. The first thing, the trainee will be placed on the basis of personal desire, background, and aptitude. After having a physical examination and being outfitted he will begin his basic training, which lasts nine weeks. During this time the trainee will learn

The Blight of Segregation

LENORA MCGINN

No, America. You can't do that—but you are! You are practicing a gross and dangerous injustice contrary to every one of your democratic principles: on the sole basis of skin color, you are segregating minority groups.

Generally, the word segregation is associated only with the Negro and with the South; however, discrimination laws are in operation against various minority factions, in all parts of the country. Because most Americans live so exclusively on one side of the color line, it is often difficult for them to realize the threat segregation constitutes to the future of the nation. Undoubtedly, white Americans as a whole have no conscious feeling of enmity for any one color or group; but it does seem that they have adjusted their consciences to functions only in relation to person who bear the same color label. According to John Knox's article "We Are Divided," which appeared in The Christian Century, January 6, 1943, the typical white American attitude is that a person whose skin is not white is a kind of foreigner or anomaly, and the segregation system is its institutional expression.

First, let us consider the segregation of our largest minority group, the Negro. In the South, the Negro is segregated in transportation facilities, in education, in housing, and many public places. Many of the reasons for Negro segregation, as stated by James Newman in "Examinations of Freedom," which appeared in the November 17, 1947, edition of The New Republic, suggest the intellectual superiority of whites in spite of the fact that the Negro attends segregated schools where the teachers are underpaid; the classrooms, overcrowded; the equipment is as poor as possible; the school term, as short as possible; the curriculum, as limited as possible. The whole theory of white intellectual superiority can be dissolved merely by comparing examination results of Negro and white students—when they have been exposed to the same educational training. Whites who uphold this theory are closing their eyes to the fact brought forth by Stanley E. Jones that "There are no permanently inferior races and no permanently superior races; there are only developed and undeveloped races."

Although in the southern states Negro segregation is more conspicuous, it is scarcely more real than elsewhere. The tendency toward residential segregation in the North was completed during the 1940's when countless Negroes emigrated from the South to work in northern war plants. Why did these Negroes establish themselves in solid communities? Did they prefer to be alone? Whites often maintain this to be the reason despite the fact that the amount of property covered by restrictive covenants has been estimated in the January 26, 1948 publication of Newsweek to run as high as eighty per cent in some cities.

That Negroes and whites cannot live in the same block is another basic pillar upholding the segregation policy. At present, however, as reported by Charles Livermore in "Segregation Is Not the Answer," an article appearing in the September, 1947 issue of American City, there are over three hundred projects in the United States working successfully on a completely opposite theory, that Negroes and whites can literally live next door to each other in complete harmony. The Michael Reese Hospital, located in the heart of Chicago's black belt, is an excellent example of such a project. Its personnel are employed on a basis of ability rather than on a basis of skin color. Negroes are found in every type of job from elevator operators to staff surgeons. "In regard to patients, all minority groups are admitted to all the facilities of Michael Reese Hospital—private, semiprivate, and ward—on a non-segregated basis; and the hospital operates in an atmosphere of the utmost congeniality and efficiency." Negroes can indeed integrate successfully—when they are given the chance.

Next, let us consider the segregation of another minority group, the Japanese-American, or Nisei. Under the government's 1942 Japanese Relocation Program, 112,000 Japanese-Americans on the West Coast were evacuated to inland relocation camps, where they were held until absolute proof of their loyalty to the United States could be established. Little did anti-Jap agitators expect that the Nisei's 442nd Regimental Combat Team was to be the most decorated single outfit in the army and that the Nisei, as a fighting unit, were to turn in one of the most glorious records in the military history of the United States. There was no reason, other than mistrust and suspicion, to presume that these citizens were not loyal Americans; but the Nisei were foreign and unknown to the white men. They lived in segregated communities—actually, little Tokyos; they had not integrated for many of the same reasons the Negroes have not: restrictive covenants and general prejudices. They had their own restaurants, schools, theaters, and churches; there was little, if any, chance for understanding. Soon after the Pearl Harbor disaster, organized minorities began to stir up agitation against the Japanese-Americans. Tension increased. Doubters, worried about the risks of another Pearl Harbor, preferred too much caution to too little; and, consequently, an opinion crystallized in favor of evacuating the Nisei. This is a conclusive case in which segregation led to mistrust; and mistrust, to the United States government's first experience with wholesale concentration camps.

The peaceful Nisei integration into middle western society not only proves that Nisei and whites can live together in complete harmony but also proves that the Nisei do not wish to be apart. In the Middle West they attend Caucasian churches and schools and have no desire whatsoever to set up the sort of community which, on the Coast, led to all the mistaken notions concerning their loyalty.

What the segregation system portends for the future of our country is a subject for serious and immediate thought. The constant injuries to self-respect, the perpetual insecurity, the necessity of continually fighting one's way if one seeks to live like a normal person, the strange aloneness of finding oneself an alien in one's own land, the only land one knows—who can measure the aggregate hurt of all this for the millions of non-white citizens of this country? If the segregation system continues, those who are segregated are certain to gravitate more and more into racially self-conscious groups, culturally differentiated from the rest and bound together largely by a common resentment of the surrounding white society. The bloody race riots in Los Angeles and Detroit during World War II are examples of the external explosions which are very likely to ensue internal pressures accumulated within segregated groups. The importance of civil disobedience as a pressure technique can be appreciated when one realizes that, in 1943, Los Angeles' zoot suit riots alone put at stake the effective functioning of America's war economy. According to Grant Reynolds in his article, "A Triumph for Civil Disobedience," which appeared in the August 28 publication of The Nation the Negroes, making up one-tenth of this country's population, are ready to go beyond discussion, petition, and protest stages. The Nisei and other minority groups, not being as numerically great as the Negroes, probably would not, of themselves, create so much disturbance; but any segregated group, no matter how small, constitutes a potential menace to national unity.

Our federal government is bound to face increasing difficulties in its United Nations role as champion of human rights if it is incapable of preserving those rights for its own citizens. The repercussions of our failure will echo from one end of the globe to the other, and the world will look to the American national government for explanation and remedial action. The United States is not so strong; the final triumph of the democratic ideal is not so inevitable that we can ignore what the world thinks of us or our record. But how can we look for respect from other nations when our own citizens do not have genuine respect or understanding for one another? We lack this mutual respect and understanding—upon which alone can be built a worthy and enduring

The Oracle Board

The conclusion of the 1949 school year finds the Oracle coming to the end of its fifty-seventh consecutive year of publication. In the past few years the Oracle Board has presented two issues, the Christmas issue and the Yearbook.

The subscription drive was opened in the fall by the annual Oracle assembly, this year in the form of a political campaign. The assembly was enthusiastically received by the students and faculty alike, as shown by their overwhelming support of our publications.

One of the highlights of the Christmas issue was the article on Tuberculosis, by Co-editor Lenora McGinn, which was entered in a national contest in competition with 285 other high schools across the country. The article, "What We Should Know About T. B.," not only was among the national winners, but also was the only winning entry from the State of Maine. The Christmas issue received many compliments from the students and faculty, which more than repaid the staff for its diligent work.

As this yearbook is the final contribution of the 1949 Oracle Board to Bangor High School, we wish to express our sincere appreciation for the helpful guidance and inspiration given us by our faculty adviser, Miss Jessie L. Fraser.

Orascope

The May issue of the Orascope marked the completion of four years in which Bangor High School's own newspaper has been published. After the Class of '47 established the paper as a school institution, publication was carried on in the following two years by the Class of '48 and the '49's, and in the past year by the Class of '50.

The Orascope's Mid-century Class Staff which consisted of eighteen juniors met daily and work was carried on under the watchful eye of Miss Jessie L. Fraser, faculty adviser.

The Orascope, published five times during the school year, is a combination of good literature, interesting features, vivid pictures, and on-the-spot-news.

The members of the staff, under the leadership of editor Paul Brontas, deserve much praise for their outstanding work during the year in maintaining the high standard established in such a short time by former Orascope staffs.

Student Council

This year the Student Council was active and progressive.

A lunch program, an art class, a monitor system, and a point system are a few of the many projects the council has helped put into action and carry out.

A food sale was held in December at which approximately forty dollars profit was realized. This money formed a fund to finance the students who went to the Student Legislature last winter.

Two mirrors were bought by the Council and put in the boys' and girls' shower rooms.

The biggest event Bangor High School has had in many a year was the second annual All-Bangor Night. Booths, dancing, and a variety revue, written and directed by Miss Mary Hodgson, made this dance the success a Student Council could wish for. The profit, about $200, was used to buy a speech recording-machine to be used by the speech department. Dean Rachel Connor and Mr. Claude Lovely have been the council's advisers.

National Honor Society

Membership in the National Honor Society is a goal for which every student should strive. Scholarship, character, leadership, and service form the basis for determining membership eligibility.

The most important part of the years' work is the initiation of new members. This year thirty-two juniors and seniors were elected to the society by the combined votes of the faculty and members of the group. The initiation service was impressive and well done, and it was made more colorful by the addition of colored banners for each charge.

A cupcake sale was sponsored by the society to raise funds for the year's expenses.

The Bangor chapter had the privilege of initiating the members of the Junior National Honor Society of Fifth Street Junior High School. Those who took part in this initiation gave the same charges at the senior high initiation. Those taking part were Marlene Ulmer, president; Ray Petterson, Vice president; Sue Chase, secretary; Edward McInnis, Treasurer; and Dorothy Leonard.

Officers elected for next year are Bette Bailey, president; Myles Striar, vice-president; Margaret Howatt, secretary; and Judy Phillips, treasurer.

Miss Ruth Belknap served as adviser of the society and has done much to make this year one of the most active of the society's history at Bangor High.

Seventh Annual Scholarship Day At B. H. S.

Scholarship Recognition Day Assembly was held at Bangor High School, Friday, May 20, when 61 members of the school were honored for outstanding scholastic achievement.

25 seniors, 13 juniors, and 23 sophomores received scholastic honors. Marlene Ulmer presided.

In conferring Scholarship Recognition Certificates on fourteen members of the senior class, the school recognized outstanding consistency in scholastic achievement in a class of nearly 200. To earn this award a senior must have maintained a rank of 85 or better in every major subject for five semesters; thus to be named a Bangor High Scholar is one of the highest and most coveted academic honors that the school can confer. Since the inauguration of Scholarship Recognition Day by the 1943 Student Council, 67 seniors, approximately 5% of the 1425 graduates have received these awards. The following members of the class of 1949 were named Bangor High School Scholars: Eleanor M. Byron, Susan L. Chase, C. Richmond Cushing, Barbara A. Fernald, Robert Hamilton, Patricia A. Largay, Elena M. Leighton, Dorothy A. Leonard, M. Lenora McGinn, Marjorie E. Morrison, Naida J. Osgood, Leona M. Peirce, Richard W. Searles, and Marlene A. Ulmer.

Members of the sophomore and junior classes who thus far in their courses have maintained a rank of 85 or better in every major subject were named to the tentative lists of Bangor High School Scholars. Thirteen juniors from a class of 271 and twenty-three sophomores from a class of 284 were so honored. The tentative list for juniors included: Bette Baily, Paul Brountas, Sherman Chandler, Mary Jean Chapman, Paul Dinsmore, Richard Gray, Ronald Gray, Barbara Head, Margaret Howatt, Patricia Hyson, Barbara Oakes, Judy Phillips, and Patricia Wilson.

Those on the tentative list for sophomores were: Priscilla Ames, Lorraine Canning, Carolyn Clark, Mary Jane Cromwell, John Frey, Daniel Gagnon, Barbara Hazelton, Donna Holmes, Mary Howard, Suzan Humphrey, Carolyn Kealiher, Caroline Lobley, Elaine Perkins, Geneveive Perkins, Stephen Perkins, Mary Peters Earl Peterson, Nadine Stevens, David Searles, Diana Springer, Elizabeth Tandy, Robert Vose, and Katherine Zoidis.

Bangor High School has always maintained a tradition of high scholastic achievement, and the present alumni in more than 30 colleges and universities have reflected in their scholastic records evidence of adequate secondary preparation. Graduates of this school are now attending University of Maine, University of Pennsylvania, Goucher, Pembroke, Fordham, Duke, Georgetown, Bates, Bowdoin, Colby, St. Elizabeth's, Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, University of South Carolina, Tufts, University of Miami, Boston University, West Point, Annapolis, Simmons, Marymount, Immaculata, Northwestern, Bethany, Syracuse, Wheaton, Wellesley, Bryn Mawr, Smith, Radcliffe, M. I. T., and Harvard.

Harvey Ginsbreg and William Levine, members of the class of 1948 now attending Harvard and M. I. T., have the distinction of making the Dean's list at their respective colleges.

Within the last month, six B. H. S. graduates were among 33 elected to Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Maine. Also at the University, two B. H. S. alumni were elected to the national honorary engineering society, Tau Beta Pi.

Recently Eleanor M. Byron, a Bangor High School scholar, and a member of the class of 1949, placed in the highest tenth for girls in a nation-wide test sponsored by the National Honor Society. The purpose of the test was to determine general academic competence. 5915 pupils from 1492 secondary schools in the United States entered the contest. The participants were a highly selected group of seniors who plan to enter college next fall.

Scholarship Recognition Day was made the occasion for announcing the Speakers for graduation. Those who will have parts in the exercises, June 17, are Marlene Ulmer and Leon Segal, Essays; Raymond Cox, Class History; and David Batchelder, Parting Address.

Debate Club

The Debate Club, one of Bangor High's largest clubs, opened the year under the guidance of its new adviser, Miss Mary M. Hodgson. The following officers were elected: Leon Segal, president; Richard Gray, vice-president; Ronald Gray, secretary; and Violet Colson, treasurer.

In November the Debate club sponsored the highly successful Circus Carnival to raise money for the club expenses. Later in the month members of the club attended a debate clinic held at the University of Maine. In the Bowdoin Forum Shapleigh Drisko and Paul Brontas represented Bangor High with a resolution on farm subsidies.

The following month the club cooperated with the Public Affairs club in having a Christmas Party.

In January a tournament was held at Bangor High, sponsored by Bar Harbor High School.

Another tournament was held at the University of Maine during February with five teams from Bangor High entered. A special feature of this tournament was that all debaters were required to debate both sides of the question.

During the year the club sponsored debates between Bangor and M. C. I.—and Bangor and Cony. The club met twice weekly for instruction and class debates. Through a process of elimination, varsity and junior varsity squads were selected to enter the Bates League competition.

This year has been very successful for the Debate club, and the future looks even better with many members remaining for another year of active debating.

Varsity Debate

Under the direction of Miss Mary Hodgson, Bangor High's new debate coach, the Varsity Debate team finished a successful season. The members of the Varsity team and the Junior Varsity team were chosen as the result of their showing in inter-class debates and tournaments with other schools.

Those on the varsity squad are Mark Lieberman and Leon Segal, representing the affirmative side of the question, with Shapleigh Drisko and Paul Brountas, representing the negative. Lawrence Blethen and Janet Head composed the affirmative team on the Junior Varsity, while Ronald Gray and Jim Peters filled their posts as the negative team.

This year, the subject under discussion was one of an international scope, in direct contrast to the previous national topics. The subject was—Resolved: that the United Nations now be revised into a system of Federal World Government.

In the University of Maine Debate tourney, Bangor sent five teams, with Shapleigh Drisko and Paul Brountas reaching the semi-finals. This pair established an enviable record this year, losing only two debates out of twelve.

In the Bates League Tournament, the Bangor Varsity was eliminated in the preliminary round, with the affirmative team coping a victory over John Bapst and the negative team losing to Orono, the eventual state champs, by only one vote.

Dramatic Club

Meet the Bangor High School Dramatic Club. Under the expert direction of the faculty adviser, Miss Mary M. Hodgson, members of this club have been very busy during the year. In fact, the training received by some of these young people has made them indispensable to many other activities in and around the assembly hall. In December, the Dramatic Club joined with the music department to sponsor the highly successful operetta, "Meet Arizona." The biggest project of the year, of which all members participating can be proud, was "Triple Delight Nite" when three highly entertaining one-act plays were presented. One of these, a tense melodrama, "Curses the Villian Is Foiled", was chosen to compete in the district one-act play contest in which it was judged the winner.

In May, the Club sponsored the highly entertaining three act production, "Meet Me In St. Louis" presented by the Senior Class.

The members crowned a highly successful season with a bang-up banquet at the Windsor Hotel on June 7.

Public Affairs Club

At an organization meeting held in October, the following officers of the Public Affairs Club were elected: Richard Searles, president; Eleanor Byron, vice-president; Lenora McGinn, secretary; and David Batchelder, treasurer. In November, the members of the club heard a very interesting talk delivered by Rev. Charles E. Dartnell on conditions in England at the present as compared to pre-war times.

The Public Affairs Club held a joint Christmas Party with the Dramatic and Debate Clubs in December. The Christmas party was highlighted by old-fashioned dances and games. Mr. Richard Hammerick spoke on World Government to the group at the January meeting. Following Mr. Hammerick's speech, several members of the club held a debate on the subject.

The club sponsored a booth at All Bangor Night and climaxed a very successful year with an outing in June. Mr. Reginald Dodge is faculty adviser of the club.

Commercial Club

At an organization meeting of the Commercial Club held in September, the following officers were elected: President, Gloria Cole; Vice-President, Vaughn Cole; Secretary, Patricia McInnis; Treasurer, Marlene Dempsey.

To start the year's program, Mr. Raymond Sherman from the Maine Unemployment Agency addressed the group on "Opportunities of Business in Bangor."

In December the annual Christmas supper party was held. A special Christmas program was presented; and many parents, as well as several members of the faculty, were present.

Other outstanding events were movies, tours, and a talent show.

The purpose of the club is to introduce its members to the business world and to further the educational and social activities of its members.

The members of the Commercial Club express their sincere thanks and appreciation to Mrs. Ardis Abbot, club adviser, for the help she has given them.

The Homeec Club

The Homeec Club, under the guidance of Miss Ruth Crosby, has had a successful year. The main project for the year was the making of slips for the children at the Children's Home. The girls purchased and delivered two complete Christmas dinners to local needy families. Among the special programs of the year was a demonstration of a water color painting by Miss Georgia Worster.

The club also has been active socially. Cynthia Tibbetts entertained the girls at a Christmas party. Tobogganing was enjoyed at Priscilla and Betty Crook's home in Orrington. Miss Crosby was hostess at an attractive dinner party during the Valentine Season.

The following were officers: Faith Canty, President; Eva Casey, Secretary; Cynthia Tibbetts, Treasurer; Betty Walsh, Recording Secretary.

Le Cercle Francais

Le Cercle Francais of Bangor High has now become one of the most popular clubs in the school. This year it is but two years old, having just been formed last year. With its tremendous membership, the club has participated in many interesting and educational activities and projects. Among the big projects of the club is the adoption of two French war children, Odette Auclair and Guy Denier. The club, along with the French classes, has sent boxes of food and clothing to these children. Many members have corresponded with them and have received nice letters in return. In addition to this, the French Department, with many members of Le Cercle Francais, took its annual Quebec trip over Memorial weekend. This trip is enjoyed by many French students each year. The club's officers for this year were Dorothy Leonard, president; Judy Wooster, vice president; Marlene Ulmer, recording secretary; Lenora McGinn, corresponding secretary; Joseph Bernard, treasurer. The club's competent adviser is Mlle. Estelle Beaupre.

Latin Club

The B. H. S. Latin Club, under the guidance of Miss Mary Copeland, has enjoyed a very active year. The officers of the club, elected last May, are Paul Brountas and Shapleigh Drisko, Consuls; Patricia Wilson, Praetor; Donna Richardson, Quaestor; Richard Searles, Gretchen Vose, Judith Phillips, and Ronald Gray, Aediles; Dorothy Leonard and Marjorie Morrison, Tribunes. The club is affiliated with the Junior Classical League, a national organization made up of various high school Latin clubs throughout the country.

The club has had excellent programs this year. Highlights of the social activities of the club were marked by the many parties and festivities which were attended by a large percentage of the members.

The first two meetings of the year were concerned with the initiation of new members and the presentation of pins. In December the members of the club held a Christmas Party, at which presents were exchanged and a program was presented. In February the club held a joint meeting with the French and Spanish Clubs. The Latin Club presented a skit entitled "The Labors of Hercules." Officers for next year were elected at the May meeting.

On June 2, the Latin Club was host to many students from the junior highs who will enter B. H. S. next year and who plan to take Latin. The Latin Club climaxed their highly successful year with an outing at Priscilla Ames' farm on June 7.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club's second year at Bangor High has been very successful.

At the first meeting Audrey Buck was elected president; Jackie McNamara, vice-president; Naida Osgood, secretary; and George Betterley, treasurer.

A program committee of George Betterley, Pearl Apotheker, Jackie McNamara, and Gretchen Vose was appointed to plan the programs during the year.

At Christmas time, the members of the club enjoyed a Christmas party, with Leon Segal, as the traditional wise man, distributing gifts.

In January, at a combined meeting of the French, Spanish, and Latin clubs, the Spanish Club presented a skit, "The New Adventures of Don Quixote," which was written and directed by Sally Keach and George Betterly.

At the February meeting, a number of first year students were initiated; and the members, new and old, enjoyed the Valentine party which followed the business meeting.

The Spanish and Latin Clubs' combined booth won the cup, which was awarded for the best booth at All-Bangor Night on April 8.

Miss Margaret Estes, the Spanish Club's adviser, has done a great deal towards making the year a successful one.

Science Club

The Science Club, newly organized at Bangor High School, opened the school year by electing the following officers: Robert Hamilton, President; Charles Cox, Vice-president; Audrey Buck, Secretary; Pat Day, Treasurer; and Eleanor Byron, Publicity Agent. At following meeting, members enjoyed interesting movies, demonstrations, and experiments in the fields of chemistry, physics, and biology.

In March, several members entered science projects in the Regional Science Fair and Congress held at Bangor High. In the field of chemistry, Robert Hamilton won first prize with his demonstration of the production of microcosmic salt; and Frederick Brown was named an alternate with his project on color photography. In the field of physics, Rupert McLean won first prize in the regional competition project on the relative gain and distortion in the audio frequency amplifier and second prize in the state finals held at Cony High School in Augusta. Other members of the Science Club who took part are Robert Edwards, with a project on photographic emulsion, and Grayden White, with a demonstration on the extraction of carotene.

Membership in the Science Club is open to all students taking chemistry, physics, biology, or consumer science.

Mr. J. Harold Smith, Mr. Harry Hopkins, and Mr. Gunnar Lytikainen are faculty advisers.

The Officers' Club On Review

The Officers' Club of Bangor High School is composed of all ROTC cadets taking the voluntary course, during the Senior year, of Military Science III. From this select group come all the cadet officers for the ROTC battalion. The purpose of the Officers' Club is threefold: to make available to the members more advanced elements of Military Science than are available in the required course; to take the lead in procuring funds for additional equipment with which to better the ROTC unit; and to represent the Cadet Corps in arranging their social functions.

Activities of the Officers' Club this year have been varied and interesting. On November 11th, the Club took the lead in organizing the BHS contingent in the Armistice Day parade. The following day, the Club sponsored the highly successful Varsity Hop, at which over 400 students paid tribute to the BHS fall sports teams. On April 6th, in connection with the observance of Army Day, the Club, assisted by other members of the ROTC unit, presented several interesting skits illustrating various phases of ROTC instruction. And, of course, the Officers' Club sponsored May 13th the 30th Annual Military Ball—the culmination of many weeks of hard work by all the members. Proceeds from this Military Ball paid for purchase and replacement of such items of equipment as Sam Browne belts, sabres, special BHS ROTC insignia, and the repair and display of items of historical interest from the past eighty-seven years of military training at Bangor High School.

Officers of the club for 1948-1949 are as follows: David M. Batchelder, president; Richard W. Searles, vice-president; George W. Betterley, secretary; and Raymond S. Pettersson, treasurer. Capt. Arthur P. Wade, PMS & T. is faculty adviser of the Club.

Rifle Club

The year 1949 has been a year of building for the future for B. H. S.'s Rifle Club, as all members of the club are sophomores and juniors. The year's experience under the expert supervision of M/Sgt. William MacDonald and T/Sgt. Richard J. Spleen should really pay off next year.

Officers elected at an early meeting this year are as follows: President, Daniel Gagnon; Vice President, Eugene Merrill; Secretary, Richard Gray.

Besides competing in the William Randolph Hearst match, the team has participated in matches against high schools in Boise, Idaho; Wilmington, North Carolina; Waukegan, Illinois; New Bedford, Massachusetts; and LaSalle Military Academy, Pennsylvania. These matches were Postal Matches—that is, each team fired on its own range and mailed the resulting scores to the competing team. A match of this type may often last several weeks. Two shoulder-to-shoulder matches were also held with the Penobscot Rifle Club and the U. of M. rifle club. In these matches, both teams were present, each using the same range. The experience that the members of the rifle club have obtained this year should prove invaluable to them in building a crack rifle team next year.

Alpha Hi-Y Club

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and country, high standards of christian character." This is the motto of the Alpha Hi-Y Club and it is by this motto that the club functions. With Mr. Harry Hopkins as club adviser and with Y. M. C. A. officials helping greatly, the club tries to strike a medium of service in the school and city.

As its major project for this year, the club is going to send two under-privileged boys to Camp Jordan, the Y. M. C. A. boys' camp, for two weeks with all expenses paid. One of its annual features is the sponsoring of the Hi-Y Hop, a New Year's Eve dance at which everyone has a wonderful time. In addition to this affair, the club has had two "canned music" dances to which members of the Beta Hi-Y were invited. The Club has in the past year, contributed to the Community Chest, and Red Cross, and has sent remembrances to ill club members. Three delegates were sent to State Student Legislature, the annual banquet was held, and new officers were inducted.

The club has had an interesting program the past year. Included have been speakers, roundtable discussions, "Sport Nites," and monthly business meetings.

The club meets weekly at the "Y" and is open to any Bangor High School male student who is interested in furthering the purpose and platform of the Hi-Y Club.

Beta Hi-Y

The Beta Hi-Y Club, under the leadership of Mr. Dana Giggey, has emerged this year as one of the outstanding Hi-Y Clubs in Maine. To start off the year, the boys pledged one hundred and twenty-five dollars to various charities. During the fall and winter months, the members checked coats every Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A.; and, with the coming of spring, they started selling ice cream and soft drinks at Bangor's home baseball games. This has been a year of work for the boys in the Beta Club; but now that their obligations have been fulfilled, they are planning a barn dance and an annual banquet. The officers for 1948-49 were President, Fred Dolan; Vice-President Kenneth Honey; Secretary, Edward McInnis; Corresponding Secretary, Shapleigh Drisko; Treasurer, Robert Handler; Assistant Treasurer, Kern Feeney.

The General Chorus

The General Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Raymond Floyd, has been extremely active this year. The most important event of the season for the chorus, however, was its participation in the Eastern Maine Music Festival held at Waterville on May 14.

Several of the members of the Chorus took part in a very successful operetta, "Meet Arizona," which was presented in December.

The Chorus has exhibited a marked improvement during the last few years.

Orchestra

The Bangor High School Orchestra has had another active year under the direction of Mr. Raymond Floyd.

The orchestra set off the Dramatic Club's three one-act plays with suitable selections, played at several assemblies and took part in the Bangor High School Music Concert and the Eastern Maine Music Festival at Waterville.

The orchestra also provided part of the program at Junior Exhibition, and played the traditional march at the graduation exercises.

On the basis of active participation, loyalty, and cooperation, the members of the orchestra were awarded letters. New this year were the pins awarded to all seniors in this organization.

The Band

The Band, under the direction of Mr. Raymond Floyd, made great steps towards improvement this year. The members not only played at the home football and basketball games but also, at their own expense, they managed to be at several of the out of town games. New uniforms were required this year because of the increased membership; they were purchased with the proceeds from the operetta, "Meet Arizona," which was produced by Miss Mary Hodgson.

The Band, as well as the other musical organizations in the school finally got the support it deserves when the Parents' Musical Organization was formed at Bangor High. This is an organization composed of the parents of students who are members of the musical organizations of the school. The organization made possible awards which were presented at an assembly to band and orchestra members. With the help of the P. M. O. the band, next year, should be an even better representative of Bangor High and in the very near future should become one of the leading high school bands in the state.

The Twirlers

The Twirlers have rounded out another successful year by their frequent exhibitions at football and basketball games and by their appearance at various school affairs. Under the direction of Mr. Malcolm Willis, the Twirlers was one of the most snappy units to appear on the University of Maine's floor during the Eastern Maine Basketball Tournament.

In the fall the girls practiced, for long and well-spent hours, under the capable direction of Jimmie Marshall, who helped a great deal in coaching them for performances given during the half of each football game.

Members of this year's squad were Gloria Cole, Captain; Carolyn Connors, Ila Clewley, Betty Dysart, Joan Robinson, Lucy Severance, Alice Geikie, and Betty Ellis.

Varsity Cheerleaders

The cheerleaders started the year with a dance to purchase new uniforms which they obtained at the beginning of the basketball season. The flared panel skirts and vests proved to be a peppy and attractive uniform, and the cheerleaders received many compliments on their snappy appearance.

This year the girls retained the recently gained acrobatic cheers and also added to their assortment of cheers several original ideas that were well received by the cheering section.

At the annual spring dance, "Club '49," the cheerleaders put on a successful evening of dancing and entertainment.

Mr. Malcolm Willis, adviser to the cheerleaders, has given freely of his time and enthusiasm to help the girls put over an exceptional year's program.

Next year's squad will be led by the remaining juniors of this year's team—Eleanor Igoe and Jean Wyman.

J. V. Cheerleaders

These are our junior cheerleaders—the “J. V’s.” Composed of junior and sophomore girls chosen at the beginning of each basketball season, they cheer at all home J. V. games and make most of the trips that their team makes. When the distance is too great for the opposing cheerleaders to travel, it is the J. V. Cheerleaders who organize the cheers of the opposing rooters. Their season over, most of the girls “try out” for varsity cheering in the spring. The group is chosen by a series of eliminations. Strenuous work? Of course; but they always seem to come back for more. This year’s “J. V’s.” were Colleen Cary, Margaret Howatt, Joanne Goding, Anne Lenfest, Silvia Lewis, Lorraine Canning, Joan Leighton, Lois Arsenault, Donna Holmes, and Charlotte Katen.

G. A. H. C.

The year of 1948-49 was a very successful and most enjoyable one for the members of G. A. H. C. The Council was under the leadership of President Lenora McGinn and the guidance of Miss Mildred McGuire, faculty adviser.

Among the various projects sponsored by the G. A. H. C. this year were sale of cakes, ice cream, and candy at home football games; sending clothing and toys to the children of a needy family at Christmas; sponsoring a project at All-Bangor Night; and planning the annual hockey banquet in the fall and the Athletic banquet in the spring.

Members of the Council assist in teaching gym and in coaching and scoring girls' basketball, volleyball, and field hockey games. At the hockey banquet, the following girls were taken into the Council: Joanne Smith, Elizabeth Baldwin, Bette Bailey, and Mary Jean Chapman. Girls receiving the honor at the annual assembly in January were Nancy Chandler, Judith Phillips, and Dorothy St. Onge. At the Athletic Banquet, held in May at Pilots' Grill, Janice Kennedy, Joanne McEachern, and Elinor Cilley were initiated; second honors went to Eleanor Byron, Dorothy Leonard, Patricia Day, Gretchen Vose, and Janet Head; third honors to Lenora McGinn and Marlene Ulmer.

All-Bangor Hockey Team

Ground, stick! Ground, stick! Wham! The white ball goes down the field; the girls get a firm grip on their hockey sticks; and two of the girls' field hockey teams are off!

This year, over one hundred and fifty sophomores, juniors, and seniors turned out for field hockey—the junior team coming through as inter-class champions.

The girls eligible for the All-Bangor team were those girls who had played hockey for two or more years. Their names were placed on a ballot and were voted upon by Miss Mildred McGuire and the senior members of the G. A. H. C. who acted as coaches at the games. Two players were selected for each position, and the chosen team was announced at the hockey party in November, at which time the members received their wine seven-inch "B's".

All-Bangor Basketball Team

With a record of six victories, one tie, and no defeats, the Senior Red Team will go down in the annuals as one of the finest All-Bangor Basketball Teams. Under the leadership of their captain, Priscilla Field, and their coaches, Joanne Smith, Elizabeth Baldwin, and Treatre Thumith, the girls racked up terrific scores and, all angles considered, have been a really smooth team.

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors participated in the intramural basketball games; and, as the season rolled along, enthusiasm increased. Mrs. Betty Jones officiated at the games, assisted by girls enrolled in the refereeing course. Scorers and coaches were members of the G. A. H. C. Miss Mildred McGuire, girls' athletic director, was official timekeeper.

The records of all the teams in order of placing in the tournament are as follows:

	Won	Tied	Lost
I. Senior Red	6	1	0
II. Junior Blue	5	1	1
III. Senior White	4	0	3
III. Junior Red.	4	0	3
III. Sophomore Red	4	0	3
IV. Junior White	3	0	4
V. Sophomore White	1	0	6
VI. Sophomore Blue	0	0	7

Outing Club

The Bangor Hi Outing Club is a new club formed in early February this year. At the first meeting the members had so many ambitious plans and ideas that it was decided to include all kinds of sports such as skating, skiing, horseback riding, bicycle hikes, and softball games.

Officers for the Outing Club this year were President, John Knowles; Vice-president, Barbara Head; Secretary-Treasurer, Arthur Doucette. Mr. Harry Hopkins was the club's faculty adviser.

The best aspect of the Bangor Hi Outing Club is that everyone is welcome to join in the activities. The club is not a group of selected experts, nor is it entirely composed of "dubbers." The members seem to feel that this is just what Bangor High has needed for a long time and they are determined to make it even better in years to come.

An Ounce of Prevention

capture and control. When once evidently established, we try to classify our mental cases, treat them as well as we can, and live in hope that the difficulties will pass and the normal person reappear. We have done comparatively little in the way of prevention.

Conditions in Maine are such as to require attention. As evident from state budget reports, the cost is constantly rising with no hope of reduction. The State of Maine has spent more than three-quarters of a million dollars on institutional care of the insane as former Governor Hildreth reported in State of Maine Final Budget Report. As Samuel Warren Hamilton says in a Study of the Public Mental Hospitals of the U. S., 1937-1939 state institutions are 10.8% overcrowded; for every one hundred patients leaving, 117.2 enter. Conditions in the institutions have been criticized; there is, as there is in most other institutions, a shortage of properly trained personnel.

Mental diseases have obviously become a problem. Says C. F. McClintic American Journal of Public Health the support of mental institutions is only a small part of the total cost and probably the least expensive part. In quoting Menninger, "Mental maladjustments result in marital problems, misbehavior, prejudice, discrimination, and anti-social acts."

I have stated the problem and conditions now existing. What is the solution? As I have indicated, preventive medicine has been successful in the case of many of the physical diseases; I believe it will also be successful with many mental diseases but only with those resulting from emotional disturbances, not those of organic origin.

Now is the time to explain what is meant by mental health. Says George H. Preston in The Substance of Mental Health, "Mental health consists of the ability to live within the limits imposed by bodily equipment, with other human beings, happily, productively, and without being a nuisance." The normal person may be said to possess mental health;

Karl Stolz, in Tricks Our Minds Play on Us, describes normality better in the following way:

Nobody knows exactly what constitutes a normal human being and in what particulars he differs from the individual who is not altogether mentally healthy. In fact, if a normal person is one who is perfect in every respect, one who is always emotionally stable, always free from the moral faults, always guided by the highest standards of truth and beauty and duty, none of us is normal. The term "normal" is relative and flexible, although it does apply to those persons who are reasonably serene and are able to live in the modern world without extreme desperation—that is to say, without excessive emotional tension and calamitous social relationships.

C. F. McClintic affirms that main objective of mental hygiene in a public health program is the prevention of social maladjustments which eventually become social and economic handicaps to the individual and which may result in the individual becoming a ward of the state of a burden to near relatives. Mental diseases are more complex; and, therefore, a more complex system of prevention is required, something more than simple inoculation. A program of mental hygiene includes prevention, clinical services—child guidance, dealing with pre-psychotic adults, consultative service—education, and community organization; and, furthermore, other factors have to be considered in an adequate program. Says Wilbur, "Prevention of mental conditions goes back to industrial organization, city planning, the handling of schools, the standard of living, the sanctity of the home, and a hundred others of our social mechanisms."

As with many other new ideas, mental hygiene has its opposition. The opposition maintains that it is impossible to prevent a disease of which we don't know the cause. It is interesting to note, however, that that same member of the opposition, I. S. Wechsler, author of The Neurologist's Point of View, admits that mental hygiene has done good in the study of

“B” Club

The “B” Club, which consists of all boys who have earned their letter in any one sport, was formed at a late date this year.

The club sponsored the concessions at the basketball games and gave “B” sweaters to boys who won their letters.

Under the guidance of Mr. Fred Pinkham, the club plans to create a chart to be placed in Bangor High School listing all students who have won their letters, and naming the sport or sports in which they have participated to win them.

The club also lists regulations for the correct wearing of letters on sweaters and jackets and has an opportunity to vote for the Garland-Strang Award.

Officers for the year were President, Ray Petterson; Vice President, Joe Bernard; Secretary-Treasurer, Jesse Rollins.

Cross-Country

Cross Country is a sport which combines the two most important feats of running—speed and endurance. On the two and one-half mile course, the boys put in long hours of strenuous work practicing for the scheduled inter-school meets; yet the sport usually gains the least recognition of any sports teams.

The Rams this year enjoyed a mediocre season with two wins and two losses. The wins came at the expense of Ellsworth High and Lee Academy. The two losses suffered by the harriers came from the hands of Hartland Academy and the Maine Central Institute. Both of the losses were only by one point, however, and the Ram harriers finished third in a three way meet with two university teams and the Hartland Academy team. In a state meet, at which numerous schools competed, Bangor finished in sixth place.

This was the third team fielded by Bangor High School since the renewal of the sport here. B. H. S.'s Cross Country teams are under the watchful eyes of Coach Vincent Cuzzo, who, together with the team, is looking forward to future winning years.

Track

With about fifty men working out under Coach "Cy" Perkins, the cinder-men, as this article goes to press, are preparing for the State Meet to be held at Colby on June 4.

The boys feel confident of obtaining top results in this meet because of the fine record they have earned during their regular season.

In their opening meet, a dual tussle with Gardiner and Skowhegan, they led the field and came home with a victory. The following week they beat Waterville by a wide margin showing strength in all departments. They dropped a verdict to the Colby Frosh at Colby, being outclassed by that college's first year men.

Bangor's relay team set a new record at Bates in the Bates Relay meet when they topped a mark set by Lewiston some years previous.

The Rams have a well balanced squad and should do well in the state meet, which is the highlight of all track activities for the year.

Varsity Football

The cleats are hung up, the uniforms stored away and the team's history is placed in the annals along with those of former clubs. In regard to the Rams' schedule, one of the toughest in the state, the season was very successful. But, what is more important, the season brought together a group of boys, who in sportsmanship, equalled any team that was fielded by Bangor High.

The Rams gained statewide recognition in its first three games as they rolled impressively to win over Stearns of Millinocket, Cony of Augusta, and Portland. The latter was a bitter battle, as every Portland-Bangor game is; and the Rams emerged this year victoriously for the first time since 1934.

The Crimsons lost their next game to John Bapst, and of all the games to lose, this was probably the toughest one for the boys to endure. But, in true sportsmanship fashion, they worked harder the following week and gained partial revenge as they shellacked a respectable Waterville club, 37-6.

Lady Luck favored the Rumford Panthers in the following tilt with the visitors scoring a winning touchdown in the waning moments. The Rams then were downed by South Portland, one of the strongest teams in the state, but not without a fight to the end.

Not being defeated in spirit, the Rams crossed the river on November 11, and walloped the Brewer Witches to the tune of 32-7 ending their season in a blaze of glory.

Yes, the season is over but never forget the 1949 Rams, for they learned what man great teams have failed to do; that is the major law of athletics—"Be a good sport."

Varsity Basketball

Bangor High had been hurt by last year's graduation. Many followers of the team did not expect the boys to give much trouble to their opponents as ten men, five of whom were starters, had graduated the June prior. But Coach Fred Barry and the team did not agree with this assumption and went on to show that they would fill their predecessors' shoes.

And that is exactly what they did. The Rams started slowly, but, as the season wore on, they became a power in Eastern Maine; and finally, at tournament time, they were rated as the number two team in this section of the state, second only to Waterville, who finally became Maine champs.

Probably the highlights of the regular season were their twin wins over John Bapst. Their first win was decisive, leading the whole session; and the second game was decided in an overtime period.

Other victories came at the expense of Brewer, Fort Fairfield, Stearns, Winslow, Houlton, Presque Isle, Caribou, and Cony. The latter was a playoff for a tournament berth.

Waterville was the only team to beat the Rams twice while Presque Isle, Brewer, and Stearns held single wins over Bangor.

In the tournament at the University of Maine, Bangor downed Stearns in a game that left the spectators breathless. The win gave them an opportunity to face John Bapst in the semi-finals the following night. The Rams and the Crusaders matched points that night until midway through the fourth quarter when John Bapst went on a scoring spree that ended in the Rams' downfall.

It was another great basketball season for Bangor High and thoughts of next year bring great prospects.

Baseball

For the third straight year the Bangor High School baseball teams will enter the finals of the Eastern Maine baseball tournament. As this article is being written, the team's hopes are high, for in the past few games they have looked like champions. In 1947 and in 1948, the Rams have lost this finale to Gardiner and Brunswick, but this year they hope to break the jinx.

The Rams have come into this play-off game via the hard way. Simply to enter the tournament they had to beat Stearns and Fort Kent; this they did by scores of 7-0 and 16-6 respectively. They then traveled one hundred and seventy miles and beat Fort Fairfield, the Aroostook champs, in the semi-final on their home field, 7-6. If they win this next all important game against Bapst they can go on to play for the State title with the western Maine Champs.

In the regular season, the Rams had a mediocre record. They hold wins over Milo, Belfast, Old Town, Fort Fairfield, and a double victory over John Bapst. Their losses came at the hands of Presque Isle, Brewer, Fort Fairfield, and Ellsworth.

Coach Red Barry has brought the boys a long way since the beginning of the season, and the boys themselves feel that this is the year to bring the crown home to Bangor High School.

mental problems, in establishment of child guidance and court clinics, in the humanizing efforts in the treatment of patients with mental diseases, in the focusing of attention on modern aspects of social psychiatry, and in the impetus it has given to the study of mental diseases inside and out of medical schools.

Mental hygiene programs have proved to be successful wherever they have been properly carried out; such programs are in operation in several states and in Canada. The system in operation in Youngstown, Ohio, a typical one, is described in G. T. Johnson's Pioneering in Mental Hygiene in the following way:

Equal in importance to the hospitalization given to the mentally ill is the outpatient clinic held two days a week. Here anyone suffering from a mental illness may be counseled in his or her adjustment problem by staff physicians. The clinic has made it possible for veterans who have difficulty in adjusting themselves to peacetime living to receive advice and treatment before their disturbances reach a stage where complete breakdowns occur. Students in the local schools who have adjustment problems are often referred to the clinic for testing by the psychologist and for advice. Anyone found in need of hospitalization may be admitted from the outpatient service. After a patient is discharged and returned to his home, a social worker, a member of the hospital staff, does follow-up work in the home for a year.

Facts indicate that the Youngstown program, one of many, has been successful. Four times as many enter the receiving hospital voluntarily as have to be sent there by court order.

Therefore, if there is a need for such a program, a program of mental hygiene, and if such a program has proved to be successful, why shouldn't such a program be put into operation here in Maine? Nothing has been done in the way of prevention here.

Wilson H. Guerton thinks that probably an adequate program would have to be financed, at least in part, by the State, as few communities could support such a program; a unit for a community about the size of Bangor, of 30,000 people, could operate on a minimum budget of $20,000 a year. The unit, "a staff of four, which might consist of a psychologist, a teacher or social worker, a stenographer, and a clerk could suffice for a community of this size (30,000). A psychiatrist should be available for examination of children who show marked psychiatric deviations. Such a unit could handle four hundred pupils a year because many of them would present academic problems."

A mental hygiene program here would be beneficial because it might also relieve certain local problems, as unemployment. As Horace Estey says, "There are many people who are emotionally unstable. They go from job to job; they cannot force themselves to work long hours or regularly. They are the first to be laid off when work is slack." Such individuals have to be supported by the Public Welfare Department; thus, they are a liability, rather than an asset.

Dr. Harry McNeil, City Health Officer, referring to the idea of a mental hygiene program for the city of Bangor, said, "It would be a very good thing." He believes that a public clinic to handle mental problems should be established and supported either by the State or City.

I believe that the program should include classes, given as early as possible, in mental hygiene in the schools because most mental maladjustments start in childhood. In planning any program of mental hygiene, it should be kept in mind that as McClintic says:

... a program of mental hygiene in its application should begin with the parents and continue with the child through adolescence and until he has made his permanent social adjustments ... more can be accomplished in the way of prevention within these age limits than at any other period in the life of the individual because of the potent influence of the parents and early environment on mental development.

To sum up, I would say that we should stop wasting our money on something that could have been prevented with a much smaller sum. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Children of War-torn Countries

diseases such as rickets, tuberculosis, scurvy and are in great need of help. Many of the children in Europe, that have not been located, were kidnapped and are very likely living in Germany with reliable German parents. The reason for this mass kidnapping was stated in a speech made by Heinrich Himmler on October, 1943, in which he said, "What the nations can offer in the way of good blood of our type, we will take. If necessary, by kidnapping their children and raising them here with us . . . Whether the nations live in prosperity or starve to death, interests me, only, as far as we need them for slaves for our culture." Thus, half of the orphaned millions probably are living under fictitious German names, according to Joseph Wechsberg in his article "Hell's Orphans," in the Saturday Evening Post of October 23, 1948, while their own living parents are trying in vain to locate them in their native countries.

The war-torn countries of Europe are in urgent need of help and nearly all other countries in the world are trying to give it to them. Great improvement has been seen in the Rehabilitation Program and the Re-educational Program as well as the building of villages for War Orphans. There still is needed better co-operation between the people and the various organizations that are backing these programs.

Some of these Organizations of Help are: The Care Organization, The United International Children's Emergency Fund, The American Friends Service, and many others. The Children's Fund, a similar organization, has helped supply milk or a daily meal for some four million children. It has helped combat tuberculosis by examining fifty million children and administering serum to half of them. The organization helps locate parents of "lost children," organize clubs, supply clothing and many, many other charitable causes. The organizations can not do these vital accomplishments unless the governments and peoples of the nations give their support. Maurice Pale in his article "Further Support for Children's Funds," which was published in the United Nations Bulletin, April 15, 1948, says that the United States is giving $72 for every $28 received from other countries. Along with the support already given or promised by governments, the Fund must receive the maximum of support from private individuals and organizations, everywhere, if the children of Europe are to survive.

A great many people feel that they have given one contribution and that the crisis of this situation is over now; however, they are mistaken. That this crisis still exists is fairly well stated in a letter received, in this country, directly from a medical student in Germany. He says, "I could tell you a whole book about war, hunger, desperation, unemployment, poverty, homelessness, sickness, and loss. Most German youths have no where to turn. Crime and the Black Market beckon to many of them. Young Germans are growing up with no concern for the Church or the State."

The United Nations and other organizations have taken a step in the right direction; and, if, added to this material help, they will give back to the youth of the war-torn countries their faith in God and Humanity, a vital step in the fight for Peace and democracy will have been accomplished.

Statehood For Alaska

spectively, barely enough to link all parts of a land, whose size is one-fifth the area of the United States. Had Alaska been a state during the past twenty-five years, it would have been eligible for more than $200,000,000 in federal highway funds. Roads would thread fertile valleys now barely mapped. Much freight now goes by air. Airplanes fly over frozen wilderness where once dog sleds were the only means of travel.

Alaska wants and needs people. She needs men and women who will settle down and help build up the country, men and women with courage and vision of pioneers. In order to get more people interested in the land, and more than fifty agencies manage most of the natural resources of Alaska, it has offered 160 acres free to any United States citizen who wants to make his home in Alaska. He must be at least twenty-one years of age or the head of his family. He does not actually own the land until he has lived on it for three years in a well-built house and has cultivated a certain portion of the land. Some veterans are taking advantage of this offer.

At present a public works program will be set up to improve and increase the number of schools, hospitals, water systems, and small boat harbors in Alaska. United States Government services in Alaska will be improved to provide a more efficient administration. Tourists will be urged to vacation in Alaska. The United States Department of Agriculture will work out a program to develop Alaska's farm lands. The territorial Government will be given a greater measure of self-government. The United States Government will develop Alaska's industries by making loans, and building roads and power projects. It will distribute information about Alaska and encourage business men to invest money in Alaska's industries.

Alaskan riches received by the United State are used in industries and as food. Salmon is the most valuable of fifty different types of fish in the Territory. In 1941, canned salmon alone was valued at $56,217,601. It goes to show that Alaska has more than paid for itself and other costs that we have had to pay on it. Canning and by-products such as fish oil add to the output of the industry. It has one of the greatest supplies of pulpwood left on earth. More than 4,000,000 acres of spruce and hemlock trees fringe the Southeastern coast of Alaska. They use lumber for newsprint which is exported to the United States. From 1880 to 1940, Alaska produced $562,929,500 in gold. In the last twenty years, Nal reports in Young America, more than $200,000,000 worth of copper has been mined. This money could help pay the national debt.

Let us see now if Alaska can meet the requirements to become a state. It must have a population of at least 60,000 people. At present the Territory has approximately 72,000. Next the people of the Territory must send a petition to Congress requesting that their Territory be admitted as a state. If Congress approves, the Territory must frame a constitution, which must be approved by the people of the Territory and Congress. The people have already voted in favor of Alaska becoming a state. The vote was 9 630 to 6,822 in favor of it. The bill which would make Alaska the forty-ninth state—unless Hawaii makes the grade first—has already passed several committees.

The reason that nearly 7,000 Alaskans voted against statehood is that they are afraid that the fairly low taxes will be raised much higher; nevertheless, most Alaskans are willing to pay higher taxes.

One of the chief arguments against Alaska being brought into the Union is that it is unwise to take in new states which are not joined by land to the rest of the Union. This would keep the people of the old and new states from knowing one another well enough to work together for the good of the nation. Nevertheless, Alaska, once thought to be an icebox, has turned out to be a vast treasure house. Its soil is rich in such valuable minerals as gold, coal, lead, tin, silver, and platinum. This state in crackling glow of the aurora borealis, will be a dramatic addition to the American Nation. Colorado, Missouri, California and Washington, which were gaunt frontiers at the time of admission, have served the country well. If given statehood, Alaska will not break this tradition, but will live up to its tribal name: "The Great Land."

I believe that full membership in the Union would solve a thousand difficulties. Only such a change in status will strengthen our great northernmost rampart, redress some of its wrongs, develop its vast riches and insure its people a chance to enjoy "the American standard of living." The Territory would gain many rights and privileges which the people do not have now. They would get better schools, highways, and health service.

Intolerance

ing, he is often limited to inferior accommodation or to the so-called Jim Crow cars. In many states the Negro is denied the political rights granted to him by law. "Lynching is only the extreme form of denial of equal protection of the law," says Mr. Garrison.

So we see that "the course of our individual lives often depends more on the fate of the group to which we belong—family, union, class, or race—than on our own individual merits."

Although such conditions do prevail, we have organizations and laws which are striving for the betterment of them. In many northern states there are civil rights laws which forbid the exclusion of non-country-club groups. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has improved many situations. We have made much progress towards tolerance, but there is much to be accomplished.

"We live by faith," but we kill by prejudice. Faith is the substance of things hoped for, but prejudiced is the substance of things feared." According to Lurline Simpson in his article "Citizen Faces the Race Problem," which appeared in the October 20, 1945 edition of School and Society. "Intolerance is always an expression of fear. Men tend to hate the things they fear; and hate makes fierce and frantic the campaign which fear has inaugurated." It is not necessarily bad to be intolerant, but it is bad to be ignorantly so.

We know that history is made up very largely of the record of man's intolerance to man; but here in this great country where so much good has been achieved in so many fields, there must be some solution to our own problem of intolerance.

"Politically, this is a federal Union—a national unity embracing a multiplicity and a diversity of states," says Mr. Garrison, "Socially and culturally, should it not be and must it not be also a unity embracing a multiplicity of social and cultural groups?"

"We may continue to practice a moderate degree of social segregation with an increasing degree of political and economic association, on the basis of a recognition of theoretical equality and actual inequality of the racial groups, but with an increasing willingness to stress the classification of every individual with his cultural rather than his racial group. To do this is only to apply the principle—congenial alike to a democratic society and to intelligent minds everywhere—of estimating individuals upon their merits rather than upon the average characteristics of some group to which they may belong."

We can turn to many instances in World War II to find that true equality of all men regardless of race and creed can become a reality.

Chaplain Roland Gettelsoln at Iwo Jima Cemetery spoke these words: "Here lie officers and men, Negroes and white, rich men and poor—together. Here are Protestants, Catholics, and Jews—together. Here no man prefers another because of his faith or despises him because of his color. Here there are no quotas of how many from each group are admitted or allowed. Among these men there is no discrimination. No prejudice. No hatred. Theirs is the highest and purest democracy."

If men have found the true meaning of equality when facing death, can we not do likewise to face life?"

Universal Military Training

the fundamentals of life as a soldier. With instructions in first aid, personal hygiene, and field sanitation he will learn how to care for himself and his fellows. The trainee will have instructions in the uses of individual weapons such as the rifle, carbine, bayonet, automatic rifle and hand grenade. He will also learn map reading and camouflage. After this training he gets the specialized training. He may, for instance, become a radio mechanic or an expert in aerial photography. The time of this training varies in the kind of job he picks. All the time he is in specialized training he is learning to work as a team in his company, battalian, regiment and division. The final eight weeks he will play his part with his unit in large scale combined maneuver with conditions as near real combat conditions as possible. All during the trainee's time in the service he is being made physically fit and his mind is learning to think much quicker.

Universal military training will help the young men to learn self-control and to have the ability to meet things and to see them through. It will build them up physically as well as mentally; it will make them grow up and learn to face life, with its hard knocks. Through their military training the men will learn to work as a team; training in the use of fire arms will make hunting a safer sport; and it will teach men of different color, faith and race to live in the same world without fighting.

If the United States has a large reserve army and navy other countries which are ruled by dictatorships will not try to conquer the world. Military power is a dangerous thing if it goes too far; but as General George Marshall said "We have one asset,—a tremendous asset; and that is, throughout the world no one charges us with wanting anything of anybody else's."

The Blight of Segregation

social life—because we are divided.

The fight against segregation is being courageously carried on by individual and group work, but such initiative on the part of a few can never solve the problem. White America as a whole must open its eyes wide and realize—before it is too late—the blight of segregation. And every single American—black, brown, white, red, or yellow—must bring to mind and keep in mind forever the motto of our United States, E Pluribus Unum—United We Stand!

PERSONALIZED PORTRAITS

and it's all done with lights!

There's magic in lights . . . . Add a light here, place a spotlight there, and your portrait takes on the appearance of real form and individuality.

Your Vantine photographer knows how lighting effects can be best used . . . . How easily they can reflect your personality.

Your Vantine photographer knows best how to secure the sharply etched photograph your engraver desires of the important senior year . . . . The victories of the athletic teams . . . . The brilliance of social occasions . . . . The proms . . . . The plays . . . . The debates . . . . The expression of everyday life on the campus.

That personalized portraits by Vantine are important is attested to by the fact that over 300 schools and colleges repeatedly entrust their photographic work to Vantine.
